

Project 1

You need to create a program for conducting exam in an organization with the following requirements.

- The order in which the question appears to each students must be randomized
- The order of the choices for the questions must also be different for each exam.
- The Score obtained by the students must be displayed to them after writing all the questions
- If the student write wrong answer then the score should be reduced by half mark.
- If the student scores negative mark in the exam display zero marks.